

BCT: a primer

Contributed by BCT admin
Sunday, 05 August 2007
Last Updated Sunday, 05 August 2007

Premise and Goals

Broken Consort Technologies is a consortium of like-minded and multi-talented individuals who have decided to give back to the community and civic music community in a way that corresponds both to a definite need as well as their own skill-sets. The disparate and varied team is led by Richard L. Byrd and Todd Jonz, with scores of others lending their time, talent, and viewpoints to keep everything running smoothly. All members of BCT are volunteers and no commercial charge is made for any of our services and/or sites and/or web applications.

We are continually searching for new projects and volunteers. Please use one of the links below to communicate with BCT directly if you have ideas, concepts, projects of your own, or wish to volunteer your services, no matter what they may be, for the betterment of amateur musicians world-wide.

I've got an...

Idea!

I'd like to...